The Forest Stewardship Council

The Forest Stewardship Council® [FSC] is an international, non-governmental organisation dedicated to promoting responsible management of the world's forests. It was founded in 1993 in response to public concern about deforestation and demand for a trustworthy wood-labelling scheme

Funeral Furnishing Manufacturers Association

FFMA is run to Coffin Certification Standard, where coffins and caskets are tested to ensure best standards and impartiality are applied. The FFMA is a link between manufacturers/suppliers, the Funeral Director and the crematoria. To ensure coffins/caskets are fit for purpose, they are tested to make sure there are no problems with handling, safety, pre-ignition, combustion and ash volume. All coffins within this catalogue have passed the tests.

Greener Goodbyes

Greener Goodbyes is a service to help families have a greener funeral. It includes a choice of suitable coffin, a carbon rebalancing, not typically offered with a standard funeral. The [GG] symbol indicates coffins suitable to be used with the Greener Goodbyes package.

Tree Tribute

When a coffin is sold with the Tree Tribute merit, [TT], a sapling tree will be planted to help restore, preserve and sustain wildlife. We can supply the sapling tree(s) to you to plant locally or it can be upgraded into a gift pack for presentation to your family for planting.

Plastic Free

Where a coffin carries the Plastic Free symbol, the product is guaranteed to be entirely free of plastic. Just another part of our increasing commitment to make our products environmentally friendly.

Oasis Coffins

The Fair Trade Choice

Oasis Coffins

The Oasis Coffins enterprise is situated in the Nilphamari district of Bangladesh. The area is 500km north of the capital city Dhaka, and suffers from extreme poverty. Oasis is committed to the Ten Principles of Fair Trade agreed by the World Fair Trade Organisation.

Representatives from Traidcraft, the UK's largest Fair Trade organisation have conducted a rigorous assessment of the business on location in Bangladesh, and are pleased to endorse all of the coffins and urns produced by Oasis as Fair Trade. Ongoing assessments will be made to ensure that these high standards are maintained. Locally, Oasis is an active member of the Fair Trade Forum in Bangladesh.

Our bamboo has been sourced from locally grown bamboo plants, which have been sustainably managed and harvested in Bangladesh according to best practice. We work directly with 40 producer from rural communities in the local area. We ensure that fair prices are paid, and that we have relationships with all of our suppliers.

Willow canes are from a fast growing trees, coppice grown on a two to three year cycle. The canes are sustainable and benefit the local ecology and the environment in general. The willow used in our coffins is sourced from managed and known sources from the willow town of Linyi in the Shandong province of China.

Chestnut willow is harvested and boiled to remove the bark. The tannin in the bark dyes the willow wood a chestnut brown colour. The natural willow is harvested the same way, but is treated to remove the tannin, restoring the pale natural off white colour of the cane. The willow is hand-woven in Bangladesh, piece-by-piece onto a frame made from locally sourced bamboo.

Mithila's Story

Mithila grew up in a poor, landless family in the rural Nilphamari district. As a result of her family's poverty and the great distance between home and school, she didn't have the opportunity to attend school or receive any formal education. She lost both her parents before she was a teenager and was married shortly thereafter. She gave birth to her daughter at the age of 15, and had a son three years later. Prior to working at Oasis Coffins, she spent many years as a housewife taking care of young children while feeling isolated for want of a community within which she could share her problems and feel supported. Despite the many obstacles she faces, Mithila is determined to provide her two children with a better life than she once had. As a result of her hard work and steady employment with Oasis Coffins, Mithila has been able to send both her children to school where they are doing well and are learning many things she didn't have the chance to learn herself. Although she still faces many difficulties, including being the primary breadwinner for her family, Mithila is grateful for the opportunities that she has at Oasis Coffins. One such opportunity is the ability to interact and develop friendships with co-workers. She enjoys talking with them, sharing her emotions and hearing from others, along with some of the similar life experiences and challenges that they have experienced and been through.

Our Wicker coffins are made from Rattan. Rattan is a vine that grows around tree trunks and branches. By providing an alternative to loggers, the economic value of rattan can help protect forest land. It is much easier to harvest, as it requires only basic tools, and is easier to transport. It grows a lot faster than most tropical wood, making it a profitable crop for locals and the communities it supports.

Our banana leaf coffins come in a traditional shape or a square end shape. The square end has a similar look and feel to an English casket. Based around a sturdy timber frame, the leaf rope retains its shape with a subtle elegance.

They are finished with an unbleached calico decorative interior, bespoke handles, carved wooden screw pegs and a personalised nameplate.

Banana Leaf is fast growing and freely available, meaning that the plants are continually sustained. The banana leaf used in our premium coffins is actually strips of bark peeled off the trunk of the banana tree.

The strips of banana leaf are dried and made into fine rope, before it's woven around a sturdy timber frame. Only the finest quality banana leaf from sustainable plantations is used to make Daisy Coffins.
